

In my poster I have flags that are shaped like puzzle pieces. I made that to represent how even though all puzzle pieces are different shapes and sizes, if we treat everybody equally everybody will fit together nicely. In my poster I also made the earth holding two scales. That was to show whatever nationality or color, everybody is equal. Inside the earth I put two hands, a black hand a white hand carrying a peace sign. That was to show that no one person can make peace, but if we all help, we can. I also had doves to represent peace and justice. When we have justice and integrity the world will fit – and we can have world peace. So this is how I show my justice system.
