

The plethora of colors represent different types of people. In other words, the colors mean diversity, and as they say justice is blind so instead of covering the maiden's face, I drew my drawing to where her eyes are closed. As for her mood, she has a facial expression that shows happiness because to me, having fairness, diversity, and equality is something to be happy about.

Isabelle Harris

Honorable Mention, Category 5-8

Grade 8, Mears Middle School