

I came up with two hands coming together forming a heart with water and fire for fairness. It shows that both can tolerate one another. Then the people at the bottom are men and women as you can see are diversity. No matter the gender, we're all one. At the top forms equality bringing peace and the different colors of the hands show different cultures.

Amber Sherwood

Honorable Mention, Category 5-8

Grade 8, Romig Middle School